SITUATION SUMMARY

Hepatitis A Virus (HAV) Outbreak

On 10/13/17, Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. issued an emergency proclamation that allows the state to increase its supply of hepatitis A vaccines in order to control the current outbreak. Immunizations from the federal vaccine program have been distributed to at-risk populations in affected areas, but additional supplies are needed. This proclamation allows California Department of Public Health (CDPH) the authority to immediately purchase vaccines directly from manufacturers and distribute them to impacted communities.

The MHCC remains activated in response to a large HAV outbreak in California. The majority of patients in this outbreak report being homeless and/or using illicit drugs. The outbreak is being spread person-to-person and through contact with an environment contaminated by human feces. The primary strategies for outbreak control are vaccination and improving access to sanitation. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) notes that person-to-person transmission through close contact is the primary way people get HAV in the United States.

Los Angeles, San Diego and Santa Cruz Counties have declared local outbreak status. Outbreak associated cases have been confirmed in other California jurisdictions.

Zika Virus

The MHCC deactivated its response to Zika Virus Disease on Wednesday, 11/15/17 at 1700 hours. CDPH Centers and Programs will continue to monitor and provide support.

CDPH and EMSA Duty Officer Programs are monitoring Zika virus disease inquiries after business hours and communicating with the Regional Disaster Medical and Health Coordination (RDMHC) and the Medical Health Operational Area Coordination (MHOAC) Programs throughout California.

As of Friday, 11/03/17, there have been 609 travel-associated Zika virus infections in California. 1 new case has been reported since the last situation report dated 11/02/17.

WEATHER OF CONCERN

Weather of Concern

- Snow levels will begin dropping to pass levels this evening. The transition from rain to snow can make mountain roads extremely slick causing hazardous driving conditions.

Active Weather Warnings, Watches and Advisories by County:

- <https://alerts-v2.weather.gov/counties/CA>

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

High pressure will produce dry and mild conditions through Sunday. The next Pacific storm system will move in Sunday night and continue over the region on Monday. There will be a period of S-SW winds reaching 20-30 mph with gusts to 45 mph in wind-prone areas along and ahead of the incoming cold front early Monday. Snow levels will be 5000-7000 ft on Monday once the front moves in. The storm will move out of the area Monday night.

Tuesday will be mostly cloudy with increasing southerly winds as another Pacific system approaches. A few light rain showers are expected in western areas early, then spreading to eastern areas in the afternoon. The actual system will move in Wednesday with a period of heavier rain and stronger winds. The system will weaken Wednesday night, and Thanksgiving Day looks partly cloudy and mild with a few rain showers in the mountains.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

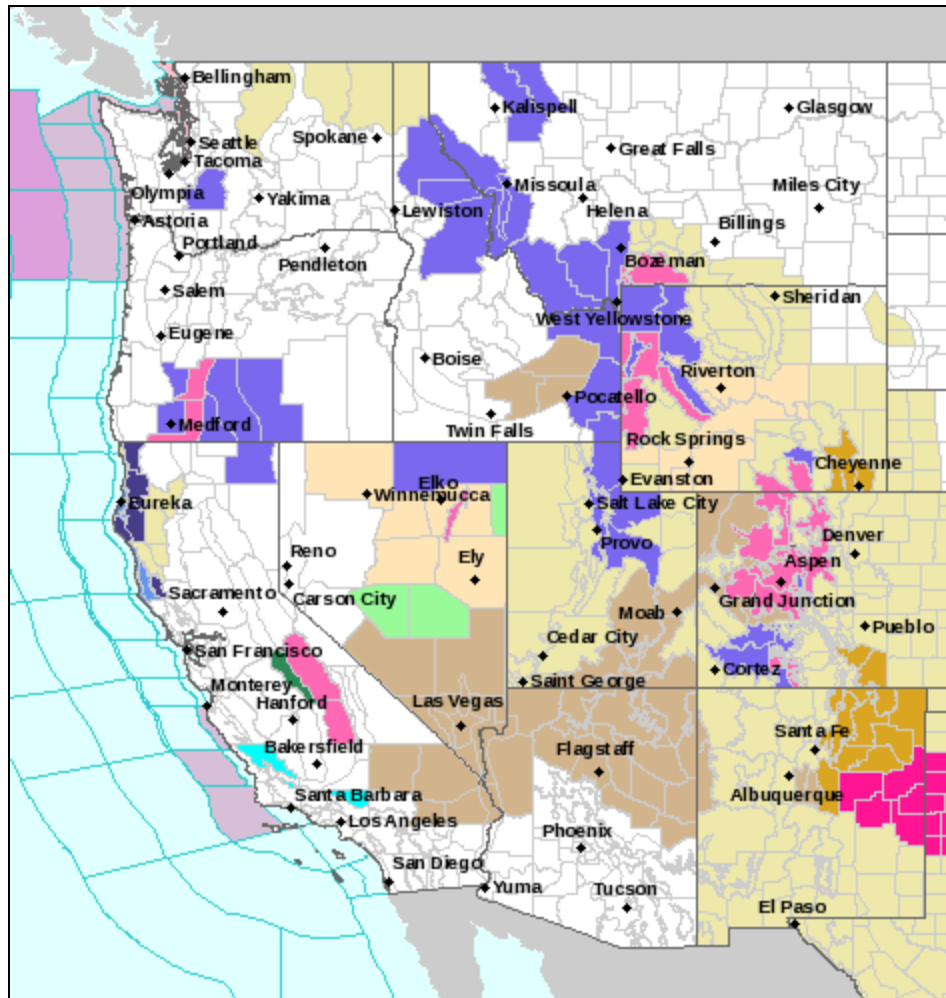

Local offshore winds Friday and Saturday

Much drier and warmer next week

Scattered light showers will continue over the southern half of the Sierras and across much of Southern California from the mountains westward. The precipitation should end by early afternoon, except across the Grapevine and Kern County Mountains where upslope flow will keep light precipitation going through the evening. Up to another tenth of an inch may occur in the Sierras with only trace amounts expected over Southern California. Clouds will decrease over most areas during the afternoon and temperatures should reach the 60s at the coast, lower 70s in the valleys to the low 80s in the desert. Tonight, gradients will turn offshore which will allow winds of 15-25 mph with gusts to 35 mph to occur across Southern California. The strongest winds will likely occur from the Santa Clarita Valley toward the Oxnard plain. Slightly weaker offshore winds can be expected Saturday night and Sunday. Temperatures will climb toward 80 in the valleys of Southern California over the weekend. A weak trough entering the northern part of the state will result in cooler, onshore flow next Monday. All precipitation associated with this system will remain north of the area. Next week, high pressure is expected to build over the southern half of the state, resulting in sunny skies and well above normal temperatures. By next Wednesday and Thanksgiving Day, temperatures will be close to 90 in the valleys of Southern California. Minimum RH will drop toward 10 percent, but winds are expected to remain light for the most part. Cooler weather may return for the following weekend. No precipitation is expected after day through the end of the outlook period.
